Message from the Chair of the Board

Chair's Report to the 2022 Annual General Meeting of the Olive Tree Foundation

I am thrilled to present the Olive Tree Foundation's Annual Report for the year 2022. Our Foundation is deeply committed to enriching community life through responsible grant-making here in Canada. We operate as a dynamic, volunteer-driven charity that actively promotes community development. Over the years, we have firmly established ourselves as a clear, distinctive, and highly regarded organization in the eyes of our donors, volunteers, and partners.

Notably, the Olive Tree Foundation has gained recognition for its consistent support of innovative projects and its unwavering commitment to transparency and robust governance.

Thanks to the returns generated from our endowments and the funds raised in 2022, we were able to provide grants for projects in our priority areas: Anti-racism/Islamophobia, Indigenous and Interfaith initiatives, Climate Action, and Youth engagement.

We take immense pride in all our grant recipients, and one of my greatest joys remains learning about the profound impact our grants have on the communities they serve.

GRANTS

In recent years, Canada has seen a troubling rise in Islamophobic incidents. Public libraries play a crucial role in addressing this issue, along with other social justice concerns such as racism and climate change. In 2022, the Olive Tree Foundation awarded a grant to the Thunder Bay Public Library (TBPL) to diversify its collection, making it more representative of the community it serves.

This grant will enable TBPL to acquire a range of materials, including books authored by Muslim writers to reflect diverse experiences, children's books in Arabic, English, and Ojibwe, resources addressing Islamophobia and dispelling misinformation, and educational materials on climate change, including Indigenous perspectives on environmental stewardship.

Indigenous and Environmental projects were also a significant focus for us in 2022. We proudly supported Ontario Nature's "Youth Circle for Mother Earth" project. This initiative seeks to build a cross-cultural network of young Indigenous and non-Indigenous environmental leaders dedicated to honoring their responsibilities to Mother Earth.

Our grant will facilitate a retreat where these leaders will engage in hands-on, land-based learning, collaborate with Elders and mentors to enhance cross-cultural skills, and foster connections. Partners in this endeavor include the Indigenous Environmental Institute, Plenty Canada, and the Walpole Island Land Trust.

Additionally, we remain committed to nurturing Indigenous-Muslim relations and have co-sponsored a series of forums in collaboration with the Centre for Religion and Its Contexts at Emmanuel College. Our most recent forum, held on February 26, 2022, explored "Indigenous and Muslim Perspectives on Peace Education." Previous forums addressed topics like "Indigenous and Muslim Perspectives on Climate Change" and "Indigenous and Muslim Perspectives on Colonization, Treaties, and Decolonization."

SCHOLARSHIP AWARDS

The Olive Tree Foundation continues to offer the Scholarship Awards annually, focusing on supporting students from priority neighborhoods in Toronto. In partnership with Mothers of Peace Regent Park, we recognized two exceptional high school students from Regent Park for their outstanding academic achievements and leadership qualities.

Kewthar Abubakar, a student at Jarvis Collegiate Institute, received the Faisal Ali Scholarship Award, while Marwa Rasoli, also from Jarvis Collegiate Institute, was honored with the Mohamed and Opheera Nasir Scholarship Award.

OLIVE TREE FOUNDATION

In 2022, we welcomed a new Board member, Umar Nasir, who has been a dedicated volunteer with the Olive Tree Foundation since its inception. Umar has played a pivotal role in revitalizing our website and implementing a suite of applications that have greatly improved Board productivity.

I extend my heartfelt gratitude to my fellow Board members for their unwavering commitment, dedication, and expertise in overseeing the Olive Tree Foundation's activities over the past year.

In conclusion, I would like to express our deepest thanks to all our members, volunteers, and generous donors who have steadfastly supported the Olive Tree Foundation throughout the past year. We also extend our appreciation to the recipient organizations who collaborate with us in the grant-making process.

With warm regards,

Mission, Vision and Values

Mission

The Olive Tree Foundation (Foundation) is dedicated to promoting and perpetuating philanthropy and enhancing community life through responsible grant making in Canada.

The Foundation encourages and facilitates the creation and growth of endowment funds to enable the community to realize its potential. The Foundation maintains effective stewardship over all assets entrusted to it; distributes grants that reflect donors' wishes and community priorities; and provides leadership in the Muslim and general communities.

Values and Purpose

In 2004, civic leaders and philanthropists within the Canadian Muslim community founded The Olive Tree Foundation.

The Foundation is a charitable organization formed to attract and manage permanent endowment funds and to distribute income from those funds back to the community. We provide grants to registered charitable organizations for projects that sustain or improve quality of life in the community.

Unlike other charities, which are usually dedicated to a single cause, the Olive Tree Foundation supports a range of charitable activities in our community: social, community and health services; education and library services; policy institutes and think tanks; and arts, culture & heritage. Because of this unique mandate, we can provide seed funding for new projects or other initiatives that might otherwise fall between the cracks.

Our Foundation also has a mandate to act as a catalyst for community initiatives that support and sustain our community. An endowment foundation (Waqf) is an institution that has been part of the Islamic historical experience and has provided for the flourishing of the Muslim contribution to societies. The establishment of such an institution in Canada will provide a vehicle for leading an ongoing legacy and contribution to the Muslim community and to Canada.

The guiding principles of the Olive Tree Foundation are to provide support where there is genuine need, build on the strengths of the community and encourage innovation and community development.

Guiding Principals

- Promote the growth, development and success of community endeavours within the Foundations areas of interest
- Provide philanthropic leadership
- Manage funds responsibly while respecting Islamic financial principles
- Operate in an open, accessible and ethical manner
- Encourage and nurture innovation
- Strengthen community capacity and volunteerism
- Enable and encourage human growth, dignity, inclusiveness, fairness and the equality of all people
- Work as a catalyst within the charitable sector
- Develop partnerships & Promote sustainability

Year in Review

In 2022, The Olive Tree Foundation gave several grants to critical community projects.

Olive Tree Foundation awards grant to enhance library collection in Thunder Bay

The Olive Tree Foundation has awarded a grant to the Thunder Bay Public Library (TBPL) so that the library system in the city could offer a more diverse collection of material representative of the community they serve.

“The grant from the Olive Tree Foundation has enabled the Library to develop a wide range of books and audio-visual materials which deepen and enhance the diversity of our collection,” said Angela Meady MLS, Director of Collections, Thunder Bay Public Library. “With a modest budget for collections, which is under scrutiny for cutting each year, I would otherwise not have been able to provide such a broad and rich variety of books and media.”

“Examples of material that the Library will acquire as a result of the grant from the Olive Tree Foundation include books authored by Muslim writers which can provide both a mirror and reflection of lived experiences for some and a window into another’s life and environment for others; books for children in Arabic and English and Ojibwe and English; books tackling the topic of Islamophobia and confronting the mistruths and distortions which have proliferated; books and DVDs on the topic of climate change, including Indigenous perspectives on land governance and caring for the earth,” added Angela Meady TBPL Director of Collections.

“Public Libraries play an important role in addressing social justice issues, including racism, Islamophobia, and climate change,” said Usman Hameed, a Director of the Olive Tree Foundation. “We are pleased to provide this grant to the Thunder Bay Public Library to enhance the library’s collection and which will contribute in a meaningful way in confronting racism and harmful narratives in literature and history.”

The Thunder Bay Public Library (TBPL), over its 50-year history, has transformed itself from a stand-alone public library system to a true multiple-use community hub model. The libraries in the TBPL system serve a population of 125,000, with over 30,000 active users each year.

The Olive Tree Foundation is a philanthropic foundation that promotes community development through the collection of endowed funds and charitable contributions to fund services for the long-term benefit of the community.

Olive Tree Foundation awards grant to train Indigenous and non-Indigenous environmental leaders

The Olive Tree Foundation has awarded a grant to Ontario Nature for the project, “Youth Circle for Mother Earth,” that aims to create and support a cross-cultural network of young Indigenous and non-Indigenous environmental leaders looking to honour their responsibilities and relationship with Mother Earth.

*“The Youth Circle for Mother Earth project partners, the Indigenous Environmental Institute, Plenty Canada, Walpole Island Land Trust and Ontario Nature are grateful to Olive Tree Foundation for their support of a much-needed retreat for young Indigenous and non-Indigenous youth in our Coordinating Circle with an opportunity to strengthen the knowledge, skills, and confidence of these leaders, cultivating life-long ambassadors for the environment, reconciliation, and cross-cultural conservation,”* said Kayla Salive, M.Sc., Ontario Nature Grants and Donor Stewardship Coordinator.

“The generosity from Olive Tree Foundation will support the creation of a land-based learning guide, building off youth experiences at the retreat, as an important resource for planning and hosting future land-based learning events through Two-Eyed Seeing and Ethical Space. Chi-miigwech - thank you very much for your generous support of this program!”

“The Olive Tree Foundation is pleased to fund this project that will bring together Indigenous and non-Indigenous environmental leaders for a retreat where they will engage in hands-on, land-based learning experiences, working with Elders and other mentors to enhance their cross-cultural skills,” said Muneeb Nasir, Chair of the Olive Tree Foundation. “The retreat will also inform the development of a user-friendly guide to planning and hosting land-based learning events for youth and a protocol and tips on factors to consider in reaching out to Indigenous communities, Elders, and knowledge keepers.”

Ontario Nature was established in 1931 and has been at the forefront of the conservation movement in the province. From spearheading the creation of a wilderness area in Algonquin Park in 1934 to advocating for a new and strengthened Endangered Species Act in 2007, Ontario Nature is the voice for nature in Ontario.

The Olive Tree Foundation is a philanthropic foundation that promotes community development through the collection of endowed funds and charitable contributions to fund services for the long-term benefit of the community.

Scholarship and Bursary Awards

The Olive Tree Foundation has awarded two outstanding high school students from the Toronto neighbourhood of Regent Park with scholarships for their academic achievements and leadership abilities.

Kewthar Abubakar was awarded the Faisal Ali Scholarship Award and Marwa Rasoli was awarded the Mohamed and Opheera Nasir Scholarship Award.

Both students are active volunteers in Regent Park.

Marwa Rasoli is a Jarvis Collegiate Institute student and she will be attending George Brown College in the Fall.

“When parents, teachers and role models support students it helps them a lot. Having a good support system will not only motivate the student to do better in school but it will also help with their confidence in themselves,” says Marwa Rasoli.

Kewthar Abubakar is a Jarvis Collegiate Institute student. She will be attending Wilfrid Laurier University in the Fall.

“Parents, teachers and mentors help to enrich a student along their journey to find their place in this society. Without this important support, the path of a student would be difficult,” adds Kewthar Abubakar.
